

Get your Team to the Summit!

Want to motivate, entertain and inspire your audience?

Gavin Vickers is a speaker with a difference. An adventurer that has climbed Mt Everest (8848m), leading a team from the Tibet side of the mountain to the summit on the 24th May 2010.

Gavin has not only climbed to the top of the world but has also climbed many other giant Himalayan peaks including the worlds sixth highest peak Mt Cho Oyu (8201m) without using oxygen and also travelled and trekked to all corners of the globe.

Gavin is just an ordinary person who has a passion for adventure and loves to push himself to achieve his goals. His life experiences make his talks valuable to any group and as a former small business owner he understands the value in bringing a speaker to deliver a presentation that gets the audience thinking and re-evaluating their own goals and aspirations.

As an expedition leader on the worlds highest peaks in very remote parts of the world, Gavin can talk about situations he has endured. He also has ongoing experience in areas including team work, goal setting, planning, risk assessment and management, dealing with conflict and risk versus return.

Gavin's talks are different for each group so he would love to tailor the presentation to achieve an agreed outcome and ensure that it always enthrals and entertains the audience.
